OI, Indochina, June 7 (AP)—Vietminh troops which Dien Bien Phu have wheeled back into position all the defense lines guarding the vital Red river delta, nch high command announced today. The rebal orm a gigantic pincers threatening an all-out assault the French from their north Indochina bastion.

ng the slim chance the Geneva conference might war by ordering a cease-fire, indications increased that the communist-led rebels will hit the delta with everything they have before the end of June.

A French army spokesman said rebel infantry units—estimated at upwards of 20,000 troops—had completed their movements back to the bases from which they moved to capture Dien Bien Phu. Other rebel troops reportedly were moving toward the delta area from the southwest.

Forces Built up

The French continued to build up their forces in the strategic area, pouring in reinforcements from other parts of Indochina and from Europe.

In an all-out assault, the French expect the rebels to try first to isolate Hanoi by severing the road and rail lines linking the city with the port of Haiphong, 64 miles to the east.

These routes are the lifeline for continued resistance to the communist-led tide, for they carry the bulk of U. S.-supplied war material from Haiphong to Hanoi and the fighting fronts.

Routes Cut

Vietminh attacks cut the routes nightly, but French patrols and repairmen reopen them for about six hours of traffic daily.

Aware that Hanoi might be encircled and cut off, the French are heavily reinforcing the defenses of the seaport and the Doson peninsula, 12 miles southeast of it.

To both these, the French probably could cling a long time if they had to be used as beachheads.

Thousands of Vietnamese living in villages around Haiphong and Doson are being evacuated to make way for new defense preparations.

92 Top Cities Of Red Attack

WASHINGTON, June 7 (U.P.)—Civil defense planners believe that if Russia launched an atomic attack on the United Stats it would attempt to "substantially" wipe out 92 principal cities.

The civil defense administration, in its "planned assumptions" for the year, also said any atomic attack might be backed up by biological chemical and psychological warfare.

Sees No Big Supply

The civil defense agency indicated it does not believe Russia now has a large stockpile of hydrogen bombs. But it said superbombs soon will "be available to them in greater numbers."

It said Russia can make and deliver hydrogen bombs with explosive power equal to "millions of tons" of TNT. On the brighter side, it said chances of this country being caught completely by surprise by a red air attack are "constantly diminishing."

Based on Abilities

The "planning assumptions," which are designed to aid state and local officials in drafting civil defense plans, are based on Russia's "officially-known or estimated capabilities for attack on the United States." Much of the information obviously comes from intelligence sources.

The agency underscored that its "assumptions do not predict" the Soviet Union will attack the United States with atomic and hydrogen bombs. It said the blueprint merely outlined Russian "capabilities" if such an attack were launched.

Two New Atomic Devices Reported

WATERBURY, Conn., June 7 (U.P.)—Rep. James T. Patterson, R., Conn., a member of the congressional atomic energy committee, says the United States has two nuclear "devices" which scientists are afraid to test.

Patterson told newsmen prior to a banquet speech last night that President Eisenhower had ordered "limited" development of the dangerous devices.

"I call them devices," Patterson emphasized. "I won't call them bombs." He did not elaborate.

Stevens' Testimony Disputed by Schine

WASHINGTON, June 7 (AP)—Pvt. G. David Schine today challenged the sworn testimony of Army Secretary Stevens that Schine initiated a telephone talk they had Oct. 21 about Schine's prospective army future.

Schine was briefly a witness on a hot point of argument as the McCarthy-army hearings got on the record some previously "leaked" transcripts of monitored McCarthy-Stevens telephone talks and five, not previously disclosed, between Stevens and Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel to the McCarthy subcommittee.

In one of the latter talks, on Sept. 20, Stevens pleaded with Cohn not to make "too much of a spectacle" out of questioning of Maj. Gen. Richard B. Patridge, former chief of army intelligence, and also said it would do no good to make army intelligence "look awfully silly."

None of these first five Cohn-Stevens talks, produced before the committee recessed its session, touched on Schine, figure of controversy in the row between Senator McCarthy and Pentagon officials.

In a later call, however, Cohn told Stevens on Oct. 27 it might "save embarrassment all around" if Schine could get an assignment with central intelligence agency. This would have kept Schine from being drafted into the army.

Speed-up Seen

At the recess, acting Chairman Mundt, R., S. D., told newsmen he thinks introduction of the phone calls can be completed today and possibly the committee will finish with Cohn as a witness. Mundt said he expects McCarthy to be the next witness.

Cohn said there are "two or three" more of his phone calls to be read and three or four in which Francis P. Carr, McCarthy's chief of staff, participated. Carr has been eliminated as a principal in the controversy.

Called to Hearing

Schine was called to the hearing room to be present during the reading of the transcript of his Oct. 21 telephone talk with Stevens.

In the conversation, Stevens told Schine—who was confronting the prospect he would be drafted—that there was "no appropriate way to avoid basic training."

He also told him there was "an excellent chance" that after basic training "we can pick you up and use you in a way that would be useful to the country and to yourself."

Word on Metals Program Is Due

WASHINGTON, June 7 (AP)—Senator Dworshak, R., Ida., said today he was advised the government would make an announcement later in the day on a lead and zinc purchase program for stockpiling purposes.

Arthur Fleming, director of the office of defense management told Dworshak the ODM would send a directive to the general service administration to undertake buying of the metals for the expanded stockpiling program.

Stockpiling was one of the methods urged by Dworshak and other western senators as a means of aiding the lead and zinc industry.

Franco Urges Stop to Reds' Trade in West

NEW YORK, June 7 (U.P.)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco today urged anti-communist nations to embargo trade of every kind—including "innocent appearing commodities"—with Russia and her satellites.

In an exclusive interview with Roy W. Howard of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, the Spanish chief of state called for sweeping reorganization of tactics employed by nations aligned against international communism. The interview was published today in the New York World-Telegram and the Sun.

Generalissimo Franco, the only soldier credited with an unchallengable victory over a communist-directed army, told Howard he believes that cold war tactics of the anti-communist coalition are failing because they are not concentrated on Russia's greater weakness. That weakness, he said, is a lack of non-strategic imports from the non-communist world.

"The success of the western coalition has been considerable," Franco said in the interview "but it could be greater with better organization. The West has a staff united for effective work on the military side. It is not equally well organized for political action.

"The coalition needs a united civilian staff, coordinated with the military but empowered to deal directly with all political and economic matters of mutual concern," he said.

Move to Oust Prober Flops

SAUK CITY, Wis., June 7 (AP)—The Joe Must Go club announced today it failed to obtain enough signatures on petitions to recall Senator McCarthy, R., Wis.

The club issued a statement signed by its officers declaring the drive, which ended at midnight Saturday, did not reach the 403,904 signatures required by law.

The club did not report the number of signatures it did obtain.

"Although the 403,904 legally required petitioners were not obtained, the members of the recall group are very heartened and pleased at the tremendous response they received from their efforts," the statement said.

Officers of the club, who last week indicated they felt the movement would not succeed, reiterated they would not give up their efforts to unseat McCarthy and would investigate and study the possibility of a future recall movement.

More Snow

HAILEY, June 7—Unseasonable weather that whitened mountain peaks near Hailey and Bellevue Saturday continued to add to Galena summit and Stanley basin Sunday.

No snow was reported for Hailey or Bellevue, but winter kept its hand in by pelting the communities with cold, raw winds and low temperatures.

PRETTY JUDGE PICKED

BOISE, June 7 (U.P.)—Evelyn Ay, Miss America of 1953, will help judge the Miss Idaho contest here June 18-19, it was announced today by Earl Tunison, chairman of the judges committee.

Public Power Official Blasts At Testimony

WASHINGTON, June 7 (U.P.) — A public power lawyer today attacked the testimony of power commission engineers at a commission hearing on Idaho Power company's application to build three dams in the Hells canyon reach of Snake river between Idaho and Oregon.

Mrs. Evelyn Cooper, representing groups advocating a federal dam in the area, challenged testimony of three engineers who compared opposing project plans without making specific recommendations.

Called Favorable

The testimony, given last week, is regarded by Idaho Power as being favorable to its contention that the three dams provide the most comprehensive plan for Snake river.

Mrs. Cooper said she had "reservations as to the adequacy of foundation and qualifications of the witnesses as they have been put in the record."

She objected particularly to project cost estimates made by W. A. Frogatt of the FPC's San Francisco office.

Estimates Made

Frogatt made estimates for a two-dam plan as well as for the three projects proposed by Idaho Power.

Mrs. Cooper said no one is proposing to build two dams in the Hells canyon area.

"Unless the (FPC) staff here is proposing that the commission give serious consideration to a recommendation that congress authorize federal construction of two or three dams, this testimony is completely irrelevant," Mrs. Cooper declared.

Scientists Say Many Experts Are Resigning

CHICAGO, June 7 (U.P.)—A group of atomic scientists has charged that "roughly a dozen" top scientists are quitting their posts at the Ft. Monmouth, N. J., radar laboratories because of security charges against their colleagues.

The group, the Atomic Scientists of Chicago, said last night that the resignations were a "serious repercussion" of recent investigations of Ft. Monmouth.

The investigations were started by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R., Wis., and have figured prominently in the current army-McCarthy hearings.

The Chicago group, composed of leading nuclear scientists here, added that "adverse" decisions, presumably calling for dismissal, have been made against four out of 21 persons under suspension at Ft. Monmouth.

"Roughly a dozen who have been implicated in no way with the suspensions have expressly indicated that the conditions described here have been responsible for their decision to leave," the Chicago scientists said.

Eleanor Roosevelt To Visit in Russia

NEW YORK, June 7 (U.P.) — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt will make a trip to Russia next month on assignment for Look magazine.

The former first lady declined to comment on the trip and said any information about it would have to come from the magazine.

A spokesman for the publication confirmed yesterday that Mrs. Roosevelt would go to the Soviet union on assignment but said the date of her departure and length of stay would be announced later by Gardner Cowles, Look publisher who returns today from Europe.

BLASTS PROJECT

WASHINGTON, June 7 (U.P.)—Representative Regan, D., Tex., said yesterday the proposed Upper Colorado river reclamation project would create a "gigantic new federal hydro-electric power empire" for the benefit of "infeasible, uneconomic irrigation developments."

House Unit Agrees To Vote Tomorrow On Price Supports

WASHINGTON, June 7 (U.P.)—The house agriculture committee agreed today to vote tomorrow on a one-year extension of rigid high price supports for basic crops.

Chairman Clifford R. Hope, R., Kans., told newsmen the committee delayed action in order to perfect legislation for a $1,300,000,000 program for exporting farm surpluses which may be included in the farm bill. President Eisenhower, who wants flexible supports to go into force next year, faces an almost certain defeat in the committee. Hope disclosed that legislation for the extension is in a secret draft bill drawn up by staff aides at his request.

The decision to take up the administration-backed surplus-disposal program today apparently was motivated by a desire to beat the house foreign affairs committee in considering that program.

In the background of the jurisdictional fight is the desire of farm congressmen to keep all farm legislation in a one-package bill so President Eisenhower will be less likely to veto it to kill rigid price supports.

Plan Favored

The administration wants to put into operation next year a flexible plan under which price supports could be lowered for wheat, cotton, corn, peanuts and rice.

But backers of this plan conceded they were hopelessly outnumbered in the committee. Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland said yesterday that he didn't see "any indication" of the committee approving a bill along administration lines.

"If it is in a form not acceptable to the administration," he continued, "there is just not apt to be any new law and the flexible provisions of existing law would go into effect."

Veto Is Hinted

Knowland's statement suggested the possibility of a presidential veto at which Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson also has hinted. The house farm bloc hopes there will be enough essential legislation in its farm bill, however, to prevent a veto.

The house committee is composed largely of midwest Republicans and southern Democrats from farming areas who are committed in this election year to vote for continuance of the rigid high price props which expire after this year's crops are marketed.

The big issue facing the committee as it began drafting a "catch-all" farm bill was how long present high supports should be continued. Most Democrats were backing a three-year extension. Republicans generally favored a one-year extension and figured they had the votes to win.

Speaker Says Budget Plans Being Fought

SUN VALLEY, June 7—A balanced budget for the nation is being hampered by organized forces capitalizing on ignorance and overemphasis on the vote, Idaho bankers were told today.

Speaking at the opening session of the 47th annual Idaho Bankers association convention here, Orval W. Adams, executive vice president, First National bank, Salt Lake City, said the Eisenhower administration has had to back-track in its "attempt to undo part of the wrong done the self-reliant, unorganized people of this country during a period of 20 years."

Charging the former administration with "no respect for the fundamental principle of a balanced budget as the only insurance against inflation," Adams said that education of a majority of voters is necessary to make them realize that the effects of excessively easy credit tends to inflation and destruction of their savings."

The association is celebrating its 50th anniversary and the current convention is under the chairmanship of S. M. Melkle, Rexburg, president of the group.

New Office

WASHINGTON, June 7 (U.P.)—The postal department has advised Sen. Henry Dworshak, R., Ida., that it expects to open a Boise district office by June 30.

The new district office, the senator said, would deal with many Idaho postal matters which have been cleared in Washington during past years.

Dworshak added that a manager and assistant manager should be named shortly.

S. T. Lowe, Veteran Attorney, Dies at 72

BURLEY, June 7—S. T. Lowe, attorney in Burley for 45 years and a former state senator, died unexpectedly at his home here at 10:30 a.m. Monday. He was 72.

For several years, Mr. Lowe had been a partner in the law firm of Lowe and Lowe with his son, Kales Lowe. The son said the elder Mr. Lowe had not complained of illness and he had worked Saturday and Sunday. Death was attributed to a heart ailment.

Mr. Lowe, who spent nearly all his years as a practicing lawyer in Burley, was born Nov. 13, 1881, on his father's ranch between Almo and Elba. Graduating from law school at Northwestern university in 1906, he come to Twin Falls the same year and moved to Burley in 1909.

Opening practice in Burley, he drew up incorporation papers for the new village that was the seat of Cassia county, and became the first village attorney. He was appointed prosecuting attorney for Cassia county in 1912 or 1913 and served the state senate in 1913 and 1914.

Mr. Lowe married Henrietta Petesch June 20, 1909. She preceded him in death in January, 1942, he married Leola Bixler, who survives.

Active in civic and fraternal affairs, Mr. Lowe was a charter member of the Burley Elks lodge; a member of the American Bar association, the Idaho State bar association and a past president of the 11th judicial district Bar association.

Surviving, in addition to the widow and the son, are a daughter, Mrs. Ralph U. Fitting, Midland, Tex.; three brothers, Jarvis Lowe, Burley, Charles R. Lowe, Boise, and Asal Lowe, who lives in the Almo homestead, and three sisters, May Lowe, San Pedro, Calif., Mrs. Meda Roberts, Burke, and Mrs. Irene Coe, Los Angeles.

Funeral services are pending at the McCulloch's funeral home here.

Political Pots Gets Stirring By Democrats

By United Press

The Democratic political pot in Idaho was brought to a slow simmer over the week-end as four candidates issued statements chiding Republicans and even each other.

GOP candidates, meanwhile, remained silent, perhaps preferring to wait to take definite stands on issues until after next week-end and the state Young Republican convention.

In Montpelier, former Idaho Sen. Glen H. Taylor took a verbal swipe at state Rep. Claude Burtenshaw, D., Madison, for the latter's echoing of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson's farm program.

Both men are candidates for the Democratic nomination for the senate.

"I have been quite intrigued by the similarity of thought apparent in recent statements on the farm problem by Benson and Burtenshaw," the former senator said.

Burtenshaw, meanwhile, was in Boise reviewing the Idaho national guard. He issued a call for more money and equipment to strengthen the guard in preparation for battle against possible aggressors.

Charles C. Gossett, Nampa, a former governor who seeks to return to the post this year, scoffed at the idea of turning part of the chief executive's duties over to the lieutenant governor as suggested by Atty.-Gen. Robert E. Smylie, a GOP gubernatorial candidate.

Gossett maintained that the governor's load has become increasingly lighter during past years as the result of the formation of state boards and commissions.

Top Jet Pilots Vie in Contest

LAS VEGAS, June 7 (U.P.)—The nation's top jet fighter pilots from commands throughout the world streak skyward today in the opening of the first U. S. air force all-jet gunnery and weapons meet.

Eight of the teams will compete in the day fighter events, which include air-to-air and air-to-ground firing and bombing. The day events are expected to draw many civilian spectators.

The other four teams will fly in a "special delivery" event, which is classified and not open to the public or the press.

Participating in the "special delivery" event will be the Republic F-84 Thunderjets, known to have "atomic capability." Officers here acknowledged that this event involves delivery of (dummy) tactical A-bombs.

Woman Gives Details About Secret Work

CHICAGO, June 7 —An attractive young housewife and former reporter told today of the job she did as an informer for the FBI.

Mrs. Valerie Dillon, 23, who formerly worked for United Press, said she attended meetings of the Chicago Council of American-Soviet Friendship and reported its activities to the FBI.

Mrs. Dillon's role as undercover informer was disclosed in Washington Saturday by the subversive activities control board.

Man Identified

The board said Mrs. Dillon called as a witness at board hearings identified John Rossen, 46, Chicago, as executive director of the Chicago council.

"I'm glad my part in it is all over and my friends and relatives can know the whole story," Mrs. Dillon said.

She said her role as informer began in October, 1952, when the stranger she met on a plane between New York and Washington turned out to be Richard Morford, national executive director of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship.

Gives Her Pamphlet

She said the map on the plane was reading galley proofs, and she offered to help. He refused her offer but later handed her a pamphlet entitled, "Peace Won the Olympics," she said.

She said she acted as if she were interested and at the end of the trip the man handed her his card, identifying himself as Morford, and suggested she contact the Chicago council.

She said she discussed it with an FBI agent and he urged her to act as informer.

ree Dozen Motorists Rescued From Snowed-in Cars on Colorado Mountain

PARK, Colo., June 7 (U.P.)—ree dozen motorists were arly today from a summer which trapped their cars ridge road high in Rocky n National park.

Ranger Edward J. Kirk of nal park service said it was , however, to leave seven cars stalled in two- to 4 drifts.

occupants bedded up with in the last four or five rted down the 12,100-foot rescuers using snowplows. ached Estes park, eastern gateway to the park, shortly after 3 a.m.

"I'm pretty sure we got everyone out," Kirk said. "No one was left on the road, but you couldn't see more than a few feet. It's still snowing and blowing hard up there and visibility is practically zero."

He said none suffered serious effects from being marooned "except for the wear and tear on their nerves."

Most of the motorists were stalled near the top of Trail ridge road, 26 miles from Estes park and along the spine of the Continental divide, as the storm struck suddenly in midafternoon. Melting snow quickly froze, glazing the road with ice, and the snow then drifted.

Kirk was on the job more than 24 hours without sleep. He went back up in the park shortly before 5 p.m. to head the rescue party after helping recover the body of a mountain climber killed Saturday. Earl F. Harvey, 19-year-old University of Denver student from Gretna, Va., fell 1,100 feet to death while descending Long's peak.

Blizzard conditions prolonged the rescue operation.

University of Idaho President Ends Work at Commencement

MOSCOW, June 7 (U.P.)—Dr. J. E. Buchanan, president of University of Idaho, prepared today to close the books on 31 years' association with the institution.

With the granting of 597 degrees at the 59th annual commencement yesterday, Buchanan had concluded his last formal act for the university.

He resigns July 1 to take a post with the Asphalt Institute in New York.

Mrs. Margaret Campbell, president of the board of regents, read a resolutions at the ceremony in which the regents expressed appreciation to Buchanan for his years of service.

Without going into detail, Mrs. Campbell also said the regents have adopted a standard new procedure for selecting a successor.

Acting president is D. W. Theophilis, dean of the college of agriculture.

A light drizzle prevented holding of the traditional outdoor academic procession.

Nearly 800 alumni dating back to the class of 1909, attended the alumni banquet Saturday night. F. L. Blomquist, Caldwell, was elected president for the coming year, succeeding Hanley Page, Twin Falls.

Sailors Detail Frantic Work In Vessel Fire

QUONSET POINT, R. I., June 7 (AP)—Two gunnery officers told a navy board of inquiry today how they frantically dumped 61 explosive rockets overboard while explosions and fire raced through the aircraft carrier Bennington at a cost of 102 lives.

Lieut. Marshall L. Childers, Roanoke, Va., and Chief Alfred A. Kemper, jr., York Springs, Pa., testified before a navy board of inquiry that most of the rockets were stacked on the deck near the officers wardroom, approximate center of the explosions May 26.

Kemper said 48 rockets were on the mess deck and 13 on the flight deck. All were dumped into the Atlantic.

Childers also testified that the explosions knocked two 250-pound bombs from racks in the ship's bomb bay. They were put back in place.

Kemper said that no ammunition exploded aboard the Bennington that morning. A previous witness had testified that tons of water from broken mains kept magazines from becoming overheated by the raging flames.

Butter Day Is Planned Here

O. J. Bothne was named chairman of a "butter day" promotion program to be sponsored by the Twin Falls Retail Merchants bureau at a meeting of the group Monday noon at the Rogerson hotel.

Eugene Hammand will assist Bothne in planning the event. Tentative plans call for the bureau to sponsor the event June 25 as a climax to the dairy month observance and in cooperation with the dairy industry.

Local merchants would give away butter certificates with purchases from participating stores. The certificates would be redeemable at local grocery stores.

Bothne and Hammond were asked to submit detailed plans for the bureau's consideration at the next meeting.

Meeting with the bureau were Lyons Smith, Twin Falls, who represented the dairy industry, and John Owens, Buhl, dairy month chairman.

Second Trial Of Kimberly Man Starting

A 12-member district court jury was picked Monday morning in the case against Clay Parker, Kimberly, charged with lewd conduct with an 11-year-old Kimberly girl.

The jury was selected before the noon recess after 10 potential jurors had been excused on peremptory challenges. A move by the defense attorney to excuse the entire jury on the grounds it did not represent all of Twin Falls county was denied by Judge R. W. Beckwith who will hear the case.

This is the second time the Parker case comes before the district court. Two weeks ago a jury failed to reach a verdict.

Members of the jury are K. E. Masoner, Claude Mendiola, Harold Brown, John Melville, Robert Hodgert, W. A. Threlkeld, C. G. Wyllie, Richard Sogn, John W. Curran, U. N. Terry, Rudy Ashenbrenner, and Mrs. W. O. Watts.

Excused on peremptory challenges by the defense were Mrs. Lionel Dean, C. S. Snyder, E. Bossard, Mrs. Bert Sweet, jr., Mrs. Ray Sluyter, P. I. Taylor, Mrs. Juanita Richards, Thomas R. White and Paul Warberg. Excused on a similar challenge by the state was E. B. Brownfield.

J. Alfred May is the attorney for the defense while William J. Langley is the state prosecutor. The trial was to be resumed at 2 p.m.

He had driven to the side of the highway and died of a heart attack, according to the sheriff's office. Mr. Hall was found by Floyd Greer, a farmer.

Mr. Hall came to Rupert one year ago and had worked for the Keco Land company. This spring he farmed for Warren Neibaur.

He is survived by his widow and two step-sons, Sherman Jones and T. J. Jones, and one step-daughter, Gladys Jones, all of Texas, and his mother, Mrs. Lula Wilson, Fresno, Calif.

Man Who Asked Safe With Gun Built in Gets "No" From Firm

NEW YORK, June 7 (AP)—If the President wants a safe installed in the White House bathroom, he gets one installed.

But there are times the nation's leading safe manufacturer said today, when some orders go unfilled.

Such as the man who wanted a safe with a built-in pistol that would shoot anyone who tampered with it. Or the lady who wanted one trimmed in pink and gold for her boudoir. They were talked into taking other models.

Edwin Mosler, whose company has been turning out safes for 106 years, said there were no questions asked when former President Harry S. Truman had a safe installed in a White House bathroom. As far as Mosler knows, the safe is still there for the use of the Eisenhowers.

Mosler likes to point out that two-thirds of the world's negotiable wealth is socked away in his containers. The $28,000,000,000 in gold at Fort Knox is stored in Mosler vaults.

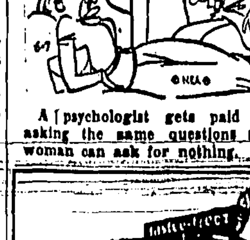

"We make safes that come in two styles—those with a million possible combinations and those with 100 million," Mosler said. "On the easiest type, we figure a thief would have to work 24 hours a day for 198 years before he could use up all the possible combinations."

The Mosler safe company collects testimonials from burglars. Bank robber Willie Sutton mentions the firm twice in his autobiography in despairing terms. A thief at San Bernardino, Calif., tried for hours recently to open a Mosler safe and finally left a note saying:

"Dear sir, I am sorry if I caused any damage. I advise you to buy another safe just like this one."

While the company takes great pains to make its safes impenetratable, many of its customers undo all the work by using combinations that any burglar with research talent could figure out. Some firms have their safe combinations corresponding with the president's birth date, the address of the bank or the wedding anniversary of some official.

Top Justices Rule Against 2,300 Firms

WASHINGTON, June 7 (AP)—The supreme court ruled today that the rates of some 2,300 natural gas producers who sell to interstate pipelines are subject to federal power commission regulation.

"Protection of consumers against exploitation at the hands of natural gas companies was the primary aim of the natural gas act," Justice Sherman Minton held for a 5 to 3 majority.

"Attempts Fail"

"Attempts to weaken this protection by amendatory legislation exempting independent natural gas producers from federal regulation have repeatedly failed and we refuse to achieve the same result by a strained interpretation of the existing statutory language."

The issue, which has been in congress and the courts for years, has an important bearing on gas rates paid by householders.

Justice Robert H. Jackson did not participate in the decision.

Douglas Dissented

Justice William O. Douglas wrote one dissent. Justice Tom C. Clark, with whom Justice Harold H. Burton concurred, wrote another dissent.

Today's case dealt with the gas-gathering activities of Phillips Petroleum company, Bartlesville, Okla., one of the nation's giant producers.

The commission has been regulating pipeline rates right along, but not producer rates.

Mothers' Group To Keep Trying In Safety Drive

IDAHO FALLS, June 7 (AP)—A group of embattled Idaho Falls mothers have vowed they will continue to seek signatures to their canal-fencing petitions until "a contract has been awarded and work begun to either cover or fence the irrigation canals within the city limits of Idaho Falls."

The mothers, who call themselves the Canal Safety committee, are seeking 4,200 signatures to their petitions, which would force the city to call an election on the issue.

Latest shot in the campaign was fired by committee publicist Mrs. Dee P. Halls. She has criticized $200,000 worth of items in the city's new budget, which includes a new swimming pool, incandescent street lights and a special paving district.

"I find this rather ironic," she said, "in view of the fact that only $225,000 is needed to fence the waterways in this city." Mayor E. W. Fanning has placed the estimate at three times that amount.

The fences are sought as a protection for children.

Savants Seek Reversals for Cancer Ideas

NEW YORK, June 7 (AP)—Medical science was urged today to save young lives by reversing a "trend of thought" concerning cancer in infants and children.

Dr. George T. Pack, famous cancer surgeon, and his associate, Dr. Irving M. Ariel, reported to the profession a 42.1 per cent cure rate in their treatment of one form of cancer in the very young.

Pointing out that malignant tumors now kill more infants and children than heart disease, tuberculosis, or polio, they listed the following as "misconceptions":

(1) Cancer in children "is so rare it does not warrant extensive investigation;" (2) "It is universally fatal;" (3) Malignant tumors in the young grow and spread so rapidly they can't be localized; (4) At the time cancer in babies is noted, it already has spread.

The origins and treatment of practically all diseases of the young have been extensively studied "with the exception of cancer," they said.

What they want is "an understanding of the natural history of malignant tumors in childhood and their points of similarity and divergence from cancer in the adult.

M'CARTHY'S STAND

Senator McCarthy's recent tilting with the presidential authority was an astonishing performance in many ways.

The senator said he believes the oath a government employe takes to defend his country against all enemies "towers far above any presidential secrecy directive." That statement is worth analysis.

In the first place, when a government worker decides on his own to hand classified information to McCarthy or anybody else, he is not simply going against executive orders. He is violating laws passed by congess, and is committing a crime.

The Espionage act of 1947 and the Internal Security act of 1950 provide criminal penalties for any unauthorized person who divulges classified material affecting the national defense.

So, to the extent that McCarthy's invitation to government personnel covers material of this character, he is urging men to commit a crime to supply him with data. He even declared they had a "duty" to do this.

What, one may wonder, is their "duty" to the laws of the United States? Are these to be set aside whenever, in the judgment of particular individuals, they deem it wise and necessary?

If laws are to be observed only at the discretion of the men they affect, then they are not laws. They are simply rough guides, to be ignored according to individual dictates.

The basic purpose of the security directive is in the best American tradition.

McCarthy's invitation seems to suggest, too, that a federal employe who believes that his superiors are lax in enforcing security or turning out possible or actual subversives, has only one recourse: McCarthy.

Now is that really so?

If a man honestly feels his immediate superiors have been lax, he can seek out the department security officer, the department loyalty board, even the department head. If these efforts fail, he may turn to the attorney general. If that does not work, he must presume he could approach the White House itself.

To forego all these avenues without full trial and turn instead to McCarthy or any other lawmaker is to indicate total lack of faith in the administration the employe serves. Since he feels no trust and can give no loyalty, he ought not to be serving.

So, from this view, McCarthy's invitation to workers to give him data is a bold plea for them to exhibit disloyalty and show "no confidence" in the regime, from the President all the way down.

This hardly seems like the way to run a country.

KEY TO HUMAN RELATIONS

John Allan May, a correspondent for the Christian Science Monitor, recently took a fellow Briton to task for complaining that his country is presented to potential American visitors as a nation of quaint and colorful folk rather than of "tough, hard-working people" not unlike those in Pittsburgh or Baltimore.

May did not say that Britain did not have the kind of people his complaining countryman spoke of. In fact, he acknowledged it.

But he pointed out that England is also a nation of "tweedy sportsmen, distinguished Highlanders, company directors, students at Oxford, cute Guardsmen and palaces." He sees these all as part of his country's essence. His ultimate argument:

"Good international relations do not depend, as some imagine, on people counting their similarities so much as on them appreciating their differences."

In this sentence, it seems to us, he has summed up one whale of a lot of good sense. The idea is applicable not merely to relations between the peoples of different countries, but of different regions within a vast nation like our own.

Internationally speaking, what May says applies to Americans no less than other peoples.

We begin to be knowledgeable human beings when we recognize the rich values in human differences, when we look eagerly for new patterns which give fresh expression to man's nature and his aspirations. This variety we must treasure as the essence of humanity, not as a postcard freakishness.

The same holds for the way we Americans look at our fellow countrymen from coast to coast. Despite our vaunted travel-mindedness, too many of us still have a tendency to land in some spot like Beverly Hills, Calif., glance at a fabled, palm-lined boulevard, and remark: "It's not a bit nicer than Elm street."

If we find ourselves wandering across the country, or over the globe, looking for the image of home and friends, rejecting all that seems strange, drawing harsh comparisons, then we can be pretty sure we haven't learned humanity's fundamental secret.

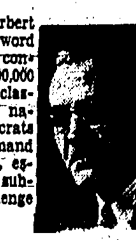

We ought to love our home, our friends, our home town. But we can never love them as we really should until we see them as but one variant in a great fabric of human life, with every thread richly distinctive.

A California man was ordered to sell his horse in order to pay alimony. That's one way to trot out the dough.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—Nothing less than the indictment of Sen. "Joe" McCarthy on the grounds suggested by Sen. John L. McClellan, possibly the ablest lawyer in the senate, will prevent the Democrats from charging that the Eisenhower administration dare not challenge his "usurpation" of executive powers fixed by the Constitution.

It is true that Atty.-Gen. Herbert Brownell, jr., used that very word in denouncing the McCarthy contention anent the right of 2,000,000 federal employees to slip him classified material pertaining to national defense. But the Democrats note that the Brownell reprimand was only a slap on the wrist, especially in view of McCarthy's subsequent reiteration of his challenge to disloyalty.

Ray Tucker

THREE LAWS VIOLATED—McCarthy, in the opinion of the McClellan-Symington group, has violated three laws, not merely a presidential directive or the order of a "little bureaucratic boss," as he contends. He has also urged that 2,000,000 people join him in breaking these laws, according to Democratic analysis of the case.

Although McCarthy's defiance of Eisenhower makes a shambles of two separate espionage acts, the opposition does not base its case on wartime or postwar statutes. They have called Brownell's attention to section 2387 of title 18 of the Civil code.

This article provides for a prison sentence of 10 years and a maximum fine of $10,000 for any person who "advises, counsels, urges or in any manner causes or attempts to cause insubordination, disloyalty, mutiny or refusal of duty by any member of the military or naval forces of the United States."

That is not an emergency statute, a presidential directive or the order of a "little bureaucratic boss." It is permanent and basic law, enacted to insure the safety of the United States against internal and external enemies.

McCARTHY PROTECTIVELY CANNY—The army will prefer courtmartial charges of insubordination against the "young intelligence officer" who furnished certain portions of the J. Edgar Hoover memo to McCarthy, if he can be discovered in the current inquiry. McCarthy would be summoned as a key witness in any trial. It is the Democrats' argument, and it may be Brownell's, that McCarthy was equally guilty because of the receipt and use of this secret data.

As always, McCarthy was protectively canny in his renewed suggestion that disgruntled or conscientiously worried federal employees make him their confessor. He restricted his invitation to 2,000,000 federal employes, which seems to eliminate members of the armed forces listed in the Criminal code. But he has already availed himself of a uniformed man's clandestine material.

DOUBT IKE WILL PROCEED AGAINST SENATOR—McCarthy was not clever enough, according to the Democrats, to keep himself legally clean and whole. His figure is embracive enough to include civilian personnel in the defense, state and treasury departments, who handle national defense secrets. It also takes in the staffs of the atomic energy commission and the national security council, our top defense planning board.

The Democrats doubt whether Eisenhower will dare to proceed against McCarthy. Reprisal might make him a martyr and alienate millions of voters. The opposition is content to drop that political H-bomb on the White House doorstep.

PRO-McCARTHYITES—They have supported Eisenhower against McCarthy until now, while many influential Republicans defended him or stood aside in "abysmal silence." Among the pro-McCarthyites is Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen, Illinois, who is chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign committee. His executive aide, Victor A. Johnson, was formerly McCarthy's administrative assistant. The political hierarchy among senate GOP-ers are afraid to take on McCarthy.

Thus, in a shift of strategy, the Democrats have sharpened and delineated the breach between "Ike" and "Joe," hoping that the chips will fall their way.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

THE PEOPLE OF ASIA

William L. Worden, Pacific Northwest representative of The Saturday Evening Post, is adept at writing both fiction and non-fiction, as his distinguished record proves. But he was giving out non-fiction, definitely, as he addressed the Yakima Chamber of Commerce Monday.

He made it plain why the Reds are licking the daylights out of us in Asia in the matter of "getting next to" the people. He was a war correspondent for the Associated Press and for The Post, and went into North Korea early. There he found that the Reds had divided up the country into small farm units and had given them to the North Korean people who formerly had nothing. It was stealing from the few to give to the many, but the Communists called it agrarian reform, and the beneficiaries regarded it as a sort of Robin Hood stealing on behalf of the poor. As might be expected, they fought hard against the South Koreans and the Americans, who were cast to them by the Reds in the role of villains who were trying to take their gains away from them.

The American G.I. called his adversary a "Gook" or a "Chink" or a "Jap."

"You never heard a Chinese Red or a Russian call them those names," said Worden.

Britain's broken promises of voting rights for the Malayans, and a long history of French mistreatment of the Indochinese also opened up ripe propaganda fields for the Reds.

America has been lavish with money and technical aid to the Asian peoples. But Americans never have been able to get close to those peoples and make them realize what we are actually doing.

The Americans have been distant, aloof, proud, in their relationships with the Orientals. This has hurt us tremendously in our fight for the freedom of Asia. To the Asians the Reds look more like liberators than we do. It is not right, but it seems to be a fact that they feel this way. As Bill Worden said, we are going to have to "get with" these people.—Yakima Republic.

PUBLICITY PROGRAM FOR IDAHO

Recently the hotelmen of Idaho endorsed some form of a publicity program for attracting tourist trade to the state. Other groups have supported this idea for sometime but nothing definite has developed for such an idea on the statewide level.

A few years ago, the legislature appropriated $100,000 for a publicity program. It turned out that that effort was sadly misused and ineffective. A few attempted to convert the funds into a windfall for personal employment. When the legislature learned what had happened, continuation was impossible.

Basically, tax money is essential to initiate such a program but it should be on a matching basis with private interests. In other words, the people could through their legislature provide an initial appropriation to set up mechanics and prime the pump. Hotelmen, gasoline companies and others who would benefit directly from a publicity program should match these funds to increase them to a noticeable proportion.

In developing a publicity program, $100,000 is a small amount. A full page ad in the Saturday Evening Post reputedly costs around $20,000. A concerted plan would certainly have to be worked out with the people who understand advertising and its problems lest we raise the money and shoot it into the broad blue sky.

But we may as well face it . . . Idaho is the virgin state. As A. B. Guthrie, Pulitzer prize winning author who recently wrote the illustrated article in "Holiday" says, "Idaho is facing a boom and the rapid growth of the state should be carefully shaped if Idaho hopes to retain living room and its generous and ready democracy." A well planned program of publicity can help Idaho if a minimum of the amount raised for such an endeavor is spent in the state to get the wheels rolling.—Jerome North Side News.

GOOD FISHIN' WHERE?

Pots:

I got a slow burn. I pick up my paper Sunday morning and discover Magic reservoir has been a "hot spot."

It just so happens I went fishing on Magic. It just so happens I dragged a flatfish some two or three thousand miles around Magic. Almost wore the paint off it. Didn't even hook into a snag. Does that sound "hot?"

On top of that, the wind danged near froze me. Does that sound "hot?" And on top of that, it snowed! Does that sound "hot?"

Something may have been hot at Magic, but it wasn't the weather, the fishing or the water.

SLIGHTLY DARING!

Dear Pot Shots:

The question about what girls did in that type of bathing suit 50 years ago and the hasty answer are somewhat amusing.

Everyone knows that real "ladies" wouldn't have dreamed of being caught right out in public in one of those suits—they were too waring!

As for swimming, what "lady" of 50 years ago knew how to swim or even cared about learning? Why the mere thought of it was enough to cause a lady to faint!

SURE ROUGH TODAY!

Grandma's eyes would pop out in disbelief. She'd know for sure someone was spoofing her.

Things have sure changed in 50 years. Back then, housewives used to buy such things as a side of bacon, sack (or was it barrel?) of flour and so on. Then they started buying the stuff by the pound. Each year brought shopping changes right down to the super market with nearly everything.

Then what comes along? Ready-mixed cakes! Matter of fact, some of 'em you can't tell from the home made variety.

But that's not all! Now we hear you can buy a frozen chicken dinner—complete! Just thaw it out, heat it and presto! And we hear someone is going to start turning out a complete stuffed and roasted frozen turkey along the same line!

—Yep, the housewife today sure has it rough! Workin' all day over a hot bridge table!

SOLUTION?

Dear Pot Shots:

Been doing a little pondering over the riddle of the bogus $10 bill and I think I've got the answer. It's the cleaner who gets cleaned.

Here's the way I figure it: The banker wouldn't even accept the bogus bill for deposit the second time. He'd already marked it, indicating he was suspicious of it and he'd spot his mark when it was offered for deposit the second time.

ILLUSTRATION

We were standing on the corner the other day talking to a bachelor when a car was parked nearby and a man and woman got out. The ensuing conversation we couldn't help overhearing.

First off, the woman held out her hand for money to put in the parking meter, and got it. Then she asked the fellow where he was going and how long he expected to be gone and where she should reach him if she returned first.

After getting satisfactory answers to all those questions, she asked him if he had any money. He pulled out his billfold and asked how much she needed.

"How much you got?" she countered. And it developed it was a remarkable coincidence, but he had only $3 more than she needed. The bankroll was duly handed over and the couple went their separate ways.

"See why I'm a bachelor?" asked the bachelor.

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—Mike Quill, the boss of the Horizontal Transport workers and that transportation itself, in the biggest city in the United States, is threatening to tie up the whole system with a strike. The "issues" are not germane to this discussion of the fact that no one man nor any group of individuals, including the workers themselves, should have the power to paralyze this vital facility.

Westbrook Pegler

In the Dominican Republic last winter I observed with interest and reported with mixed reflections that Generalissimo Trujillo, a dictator beyond any honest question, forbade all such impositions on the people and such abuses against the economy and welfare of the nation. No sensible argument can be made in favor of Quill's power over the public and private transportation which the people of the metropolis must use to get to their work and for other imperative errands.

The desires of the employes in this system, assuming, not improbably, that a majority of them have expressed themselves in favor of a raise in pay and "fringe" benefits, deserve no consideration in such a situation. The mere fact that one element of a big population wants some advantage, to be paid for by all the others, does not justify the demanding group in taking punitive action against the rest.

Quill's personality is not the most charming in the city of New York, but whether he is repulsive or winsome, his power to do such things to the people should be broken and never again entrusted to any private authority. It is obvious that no public authority ever would so abuse the people and the city except under a revolutionary red regime. And in the present state of our politics and peace, the city government should have the power and the vigorous courage to prevent this tie-up.

Such brutalities have been common in the Quill regime. The mutual hatred between the drivers of the omnibuses and the unfortunate people who have to put up with their abusive conduct and subtle persecutions is the plain result of a long campaign. To generalize, the taxi-men, a rather superior set of citizens, despise the bus-men not only for their rotten road manners but for their studied cruelty to the plain people on the streets.

Memory goes back to a very hot summer when this hateful pack adopted a malicious slow-down which put millions of innocents to torture and probably some of the weak ones to death as buses crawled along the curbs and the victims suffered horribly. There were the plain people, the "little people" of the New Deal's solicitude.

There is no class in the city more readily identified as enemies of the public and more deserving of public hostility than Quill's bus-men. This is a bad and probably dangerous situation, created by no accidental development. The tendency has been persistent for years. Those persons who remember the extraordinary courtesy of the crews of the old Fifth avenue coaches fetch an occasional sigh for a by-gone era of plain decency between respectable human beings.

In the Ciudad Trujillo near the central market one afternoon, I saw a rickety omnibus stop short in mid-block and saw the conductor run excitedly back to a woman who was struggling under a mass of bundles of groceries and vegetables. I thought, at first, he was going to attack her for some insulting shout or old grudge. I was astounded then to see him take most of her burden from her arms, carry all this freight up to the bus, put her and her stuff aboard and ring the bell.

My driver, a genteel mestizo named Domingo, said, why not? The lady wished to ride the omnibus to her home and the conductor had a duty to be helpful. His rather joyous zest in his work was a dividend. I would say, too, that the woman was no belle but a used-up female of domestic type and numerous years.

The contrast between the manners of that colored bus conductor toward a housewife trying to get home with the provisions in an island which we might patronize as naive, and the brutality common to the conduct of Quill's men in New York does no honor to the "democracy" which unionism likes to boast of. The fact is that the stronger our unions get in numbers and financial and political power, the more brutal they become toward the rest of the people and the more predatory against the whole country.

I frankly expressed doubt a long time ago that we could maintain the remainder of our freedom from brutal dictatorial conduct unless we broke the power of the unions. That power is always used to the public detriment and never for the public benefit. Any government which flinches before it is failing. These are bad dictatorships and should be smashed by law.

The reforms must be written in both the nation and the state and, in some instances, such as the present one, in the cities. Trujillo, the dictator, uses a power of the same type that our country has placed in the hands of Quill, Reuther, Lewis and others, but invariably for the public benefit.

A longshore strike would cripple the ports, cut down commerce and cost the country millions which it cannot afford to lose. Even if the strike were proposed to redress some painful wrong against one, a dozen or all of the Longshoremen, Trujillo would prevent it simply because the result would work much greater harm to a much greater number. But few such American strikes are "popular" strikes. Almost all are political harassments dictated by privileged boss unioneers acting on their own initiative for their own purposes.

This is a dictatorship.

Call it fascism or not, dictatorship is what it is and the results are harmful and cruel and the people have the power to abolish them if they will.

Is That So!

By Eugene Burns

Bolt-and-Run Eating Was Origin of Cud

Long, long ago when strong, rapacious flesh-eating beasts stalked the open grasslands in search of easy prey, the ancestors of our defenseless deer, sheep, goat and cow learned to go to the fertile feeding grounds quietly, bolt their food and then retreat hastily to a more concealed place where they could observe the approach of marauders from afar and rechew the food at their own sweet leisure.

Eugene Burns

This bolt-and-run feeding, more than likely, was the origin of the cud—a handy device allowing the hoofed, prayed-upon animal to get his grass and eat it later.

To go with it, these animals developed a wonderfully complex stomach with four compartments. The first, a large paunch called the rumen (the basis for calling this group of animals "ruminants") receives the grossly-pounded vegetable food, softens it by constant churning and mixing, with muscular contractions at near-minute intervals. From the paunch, the food passes into the second compartment. Here it is seized and wadded into little pellets, or cuds.

When the animal is sitting down, at ease, these food pellets remount to the mouth, one at a time, where they are chewed thoroughly and slowly, then reswallowed and dispatched to the third compartment and on to the fourth which is the true organ of digestion.

(Should the animal be a fawn, still suckling, naturally the first two compartments of this complex stomach would be bypassed, the liquid going directly to the third and fourth compartments.)

Each cud is chewed with a roundish motion of the jaw, a rather comical one, with the lower jaw revolving on the upper from 30 to 60 times according to the toughness of the food, the time being from 30 to 75 seconds, after which the masticated food is rolled up by the tongue and sent below. In three to six seconds, it is replaced with another cud.

This contented cud-chewing begins about 30 minutes after feeding and continues until all the coarser bits have been rechewed or until the animal is disturbed. In domestic cows, it occurs at intervals of six to eight hours and occupies a shorter or longer time depending upon the amount and kind of food eaten.

Unlike other mammals, the ruminants (with the lone exception of the camel) have no teeth in the front of their upper jaw—in bolting food, careful grazing would be much too slow. Hence, unlike the horse, the deer, elk, antelope, moose and bison cannot bite off the grass on which they are feeding.

Instead they have a callused pad. So, in grazing, the rough tongue reaches out, grasps the leaf or grass blade, pulls it in, the lower teeth push it against the pad, and then with a sideways ... head, it is torn off with ... lower teeth helping.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

Boys, you are being asked what field of work you are going to select as your own, your lifetime job, and perhaps you don't know. Many of you do not know and you are not to blame for that. You have been held in school to learn the rudiments of education, to grow a bit under the shelter of home and school. Now you must look about you and see what life holds for you in terms of work.

To be happy in your work it must be the sort you feel is yours. Nobody can be happy doing work he dislikes. That way trouble lies, and plenty of it, for as soon as one is forced either by circumstances or by others to work at a job that holds no thrills, illness of mind and body is likely to strike. This selection of a life work is one of the most important decisions a young person has to make, so take time, look carefully at all sides of the matter before making any decision.

You will need advice of course but don't think you have to take it. This is your particular business. Ask questions of the people who know about the job. Visit shops, factories, farms, homes, hospitals, churches, go anywhere that you find people at work and poke your nose into their deeds and their feelings about those deeds. There are few people who are unwilling to give their experiences for what they are worth to young people in search for information.

After looking and questioning, comes experiment. The time to begin this phase of your life is during your junior high school years. You have time then. Vacation and holidays offer opportunities, the teachers are eager to show you ways of experimenting with people and work, and you are young enough, and your mind and body flexible enough to make experiments in profitable fields of work.

Don't be afraid to try one job after another. Each experiment adds power to your mental background, enriches your mind and body. No effort honestly made is ever lost time, but is actually an addition to intelligence which is precisely what you are trying to acquire, intelligence about your life work.

And don't feel a failure, if by the time you arrive in high school, even ready to be graduated, you have not yet decided about your future. Keep searching, keep trying out each feeling you have about a particular field, keep asking questions and investigating any aspect of useful work and one day there will come with the response you are waiting for, convincing, assured and so fit to your mind that you know it is your own. But search steadily and earnestly, lest you lose your special gift.

Miss DeKramer, Robert Hostetler Exchange Vows

Elizabeth O. DeKramer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian DeKramer, Twin Falls, exchanged vows with Robert Hostetler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen W. Hostetler, Twin Falls, Saturday evening at the First Christian church.

The Rev. Richard DeVillers read the service before baskets of red and white peonies and candelabra of lighted tapers.

The new Mrs. Hostetler chose a ballerina-length gown made with a skirt of white net over satin. The bodice of lace was styled with long-pointed sleeves and a Queen Anne collar. The fingertip veil of matching net was caught by a crown of seed pearls. Her bouquet was of white feathered carnations and red rosebuds.

Attendents included Evelyn DeKramer, sister of the bride, as maid of honor and Mrs. William Blass, the bridegroom's sister, matron of honor. Janice Henman was the flower girl. John George, Pocatello, served as best man and ushers were Elton Elsinger, Gooding, and Sherman Booster, Jerome.

Alice Howard was soloist and Shirley Kistler played.

The bride's mother wore a navy-blue sheer dress with white accessories and Mrs. Hostetler was attired in an ivory colored dress with white accessories. Both wore red rosebud corsages.

A reception was held in the church parlors. Mrs. Clifford Davis cut the cake and Mrs. Robert Miller served punch. Carol Munson was in charge of the guest book and Mrs. Mildred Hostetler, Sharon Sweet and Lorraine Cunningham took care of the gift table.

The bride wore a pink princess style dress with white accessories for a going-away outfit.

She attended Twin Falls schools and Twin Falls Business college. She is employed by Cosgriff's Outdoor Advertising company. Hostetler went to school in Twin Falls and was graduated from Idaho State college this spring where he was majoring in radio and television. He is employed by the Ver Cox communications radio service in Twin Falls.

Billings Takes Over Top Pioneer Spot With Double Victory Over Magic Valley

By The Associated Press

Billings climbed atop the Pioneer league standings Sunday by taking both ends of a doubleheader from Magic Valley, 4-1 and 3-2.

The Mustangs had been tied with Salt Lake City for the lead. Salt Lake also won, tripping Ogden 8-3. But the single win wasn't enough.

Kay Inglett saved both ends of the doubleheader for the Mustangs with some superb lefthanded pitching although he got credit for neither win. He pitched the final three innings of the first game holding the Cowboys hitless and fanning four men.

In the second clash he took the mound in the final inning and struck out the side.

Manager Everett Robinson drove across both Magic Valley runs in the second game with a single in the third inning after Bill Mills and Bob Will doubled.

The Mustangs wrapped up the game in the eighth: Manager Cliff Dapper walked. Bob Bonaparte singled. After Dapper was caught at third on Ernie Garcia's bunt, Cal Biron pinch hit for Bert Haysom and connected for a single, Bonaparte scoring. Ben Sinquefield drove across the second run with a single.

In the afternoon opener, Billings got spectacular mileage from only three hits. All four of its runs in the sixth inning were unearned.

Sinquefield started the inning by walking. Pablo Bernard moved him to second with a sacrifice. Joe Burgess singled and Ralph Wilcox walked to fill the bases.

Two runs came in when Bill Mills dropped Ernie Garcia's outfield fly. Biron doubled to bring home two more.

Idaho Falls stayed hot on the trail of the Mustangs and the Bees by overwhelming Pocatello 12-6, and Great Falls moved into the upper division in place of Boise by clubbing the Pilots 14-6.

New Rig Designed For Night Fishing

NEW SALEM, Mass., June 7 (U.P.)—Imagine catching your limit of fish with a single cast of a one-hooked line—and at night at that!

That's just one of the unique features of an ingenious fresh water fishing rig called the "power line."

The purists may scorn this modified hand-line fishing but the power line has made fishing in the dark a safe and sane venture. It practically eliminates the snarling of both fishing lines and (consequently) fishermen. And it further guarantees hooking more fish than bushes.

The power line already has been thoroughly tested here at the northern tip of the vast Quabbin reservoir. The rig's origin is foggy but its popularity among the area's anglers is enormous.

It's a simple contrivance. It consists of a 15-foot length of rubber line, tied to about 30 feet of fishing line with the hook attached to the fishing line near the juncture.

Now shift the scene to your favorite hole. Loop the free end of the rubber line around a stone weighing a pound or two. Heave the stone about 30 feet out into the water.

Forget to bait the hook? No matter. Just pull in your line. The rubber, held securely by the stone, stretches until your hook is within reach. Bait up and let the rubber pull the hooked morsel back into the water.

It's easy to feel a nibble if you hold the line. Or, if you prefer, you can hitch it around a stick. By lantern light, you can clearly see the taunt line bounce when a fish bites.

If you're reluctant about horsing in the fish hand-over-hand, tie the line to your regular fishing tackle. You'll have the double problem of fighting the fish and the rubber line.

When you're ready to quit for the night, just pull in the line. As you stretch the rubber, the loop around the stone becomes bigger until finally it slips free.

The advantages to this type of fishing are endless. For instance, one cast suffices for the night—and the less casts, the less opportunity for the hook to snag or the line to tangle.

Also, because the line is attached to a rock on one end and to you on the other, the fish cannot move around so freely. Hence, less danger of the fish wrapping the line around weeds or logs.

Patterson, Moore to Get Ring Tests

NEW YORK, June 7 (U.P.) — Floyd Patterson, youngest light heavyweight contender, and Archie Moore, 38-year-old world champion, will receive important tests Monday in two fights.

Unbeaten Patterson, Brooklyn, 19, meets ex-champion Joey Maxim, Cleveland, at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway arena in the richest and most significant eight-round bout ever staged. Second-ranking contender Maxim, 32, receives $12,500. Fifth-ranking Floyd gets $7,000 for the fight. Betting was even.

Moore, Miami, is king of the 175-pounders; but he now has difficulty paring down to the light-heavy limit, and he craves a shot at the heavyweight crown. Accordingly, ancient Archie will meet heavyweight Bert Whitehurst, Baltimore, in a 10-rounder at St. Nicholas arena. The champ was a 3-1 favorite.

A victory over Whitehurst would earn Moore consideration as a heavy contender. Whitehourst, 24, is unranked, but last year he outpointed Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson, and never could entice the fifth-ranking aspirant into a return bout.

Moore's crown is sought by young Patterson, former Olympic middleweight champion. And Monday the speedy, explosive young Negro should demonstrate in the Maxim fight if he will soon or ever become Moore's successor. Youthful Floyd will be seeking his 14th straight professional victory and ninth knockout against a tough, crafty veteran who fought formidable middleweights, light heavies and heavies in 105 bouts during 13 years and was stopped but once—by Curtis Sheppard in 1943. He won 90.

Patty Berg Wins Round Robin Play

HOT SPRINGS, Va., June 7 (AP)—Patty Berg credited her putting for a victory in the $7,500 Triangle Round Robin invitational golf tournament here Sunday.

She picked up a check for $1,500 and headed for Chicago to get ready for the start of the Western Open June 14.

Miss Berg, from St. Andrews, Ill., stacked up a plus 73 points. She finished 51 ahead of runnerup Betty Jameson, San Antonio, Tex., who had plus 22.

Third place went to Betty Dodd, San Antonio, who had 19. Betsy Rawls, Spartanburg, S. C., was fourth with plus 18. Then came Betty Hicks, Durham, N. C., plus 8; Betty Mackinnon, Dallas, plus 7, and Mildred (Babe) Zaharias, Tampa, Fla., plus 6.

Stevenson Takes AAA Top Money

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 7 (AP)—Former Milwaukeean Chuck Stevenson's 97.5 mile per hour speed won him $25,550 first place money and set a new record at the 100-mile AAA national championship big car race here Sunday.

A crowd of 31,725 boosted the purse of 25 per cent to a new high. The track at the state fair grounds as newly paved with asphalt for the race. The old dirt track record of 1:04.00.795, or 93.7 miles per hour, was held by Jack McGrath who finished fourth Sunday.

Bill Vukovich, twice winner of the Indianapolis classic, had qualified at 35.730 seconds or 100.7 miles per hour to win pole position in the race. Vukovich was forced out in the 77th lap because of steering trouble.

Santee Sets Final Try for Record

LOS ANGELES, June 7 (AP)—Wes Santee gets his season's final shot this week at the elusive 4-minute mile, and he vowed Monday that with proper conditions he'll get the job done.

His two west coast appearances last week included a 4:00.6 mile, during which he eclipsed the world record at 1,500 meters, and a half-mile victory over champion Mal Whitfield. Now the University of Kansas flier says:

"With a good track, a warm calm night and a good pace I think I can beat Bannister's record."

The attempt will come Friday during the Southern Pacific AAU meet at the coliseum.

Evans Explains Origin of NCAA Baseball Tourney

BERKELEY, Calif., June 7 (AP)—What is officially known as the "eighth annual NCAA baseball championships" start in Omaha this Thursday but to jolly Clint Evans the college world series always will be "my baby."

For it was the lusty Evans, former Twin Falls high school coach now retired after 25 seasons as California's baseball coach, who successfully stumped for a national college tournament eight years ago at a coaches' meeting in New York.

"I was a day late for that meeting because of the big blizzard," Evans laughs in a slightly hoarse voice that has resounded through California locker rooms for 30 years.

"When I finally arrived somebody shoved a gavel into my hand and told me I had been elected president of the newly-formed association of college baseball coaches. I whacked the table and said 'we've got to have a college world series this year,' and the idea caught on."

Evans not only got his playoffs but cruised to the first national title wtih a Bear club he rates as "close to double A." Jackie Jensen was on that team. Other players to whom he has given the final polish are Sam Chapman, Bill Werle, and Jack Albright.

This year California wound up tied for third in the California Inter-Collegiate Baseball association, a league which—with the exception of Santa Clara—also constitutes the Southern division of the Pacific Coast conference. In other seasons he has had nine pennant winners and was second six times.

Evans worked for decades to make college baseball into something more than an afterthought of spring proms.

Clint started his campaign to build up the ole college try in 1926 when he took the Bears on a junket to Honolulu. In 1938 and 1941 the varsity spent the summer junketing across the U. S., playing the likes of Notre Dame one day and Tarkio the next. On one trek they also swung through the Ivy circuit.

"They treated us swell at Cornell in '38," Clint laughs with a roar that makes the ancient team pictures shake on his office walls. "We finally got our uniforms washed there."

Henry Benson Captures Utah State Smallbore Rifle Championships

Henry Benson, Twin Falls Rifle and Pistol club, fired 2,389 out of a possible 2,400 to win the Utah State Smallbore Rifle championship at Layton, Utah, Sunday.

Benson defeated Blair Wilcox, Utah state champion, who fired 2,378. Benson won all but three individual matches in posting the rifle victory.

Grant Sanborn was the only other representative from Twin Falls club to participate in the championship matches Saturday and Sunday.

Benson and Sanborn copped the two man team championship prize and Sanborn posted four third places and one first in the shoot.

Benson won the 50-meter iron sight, 50-yard iron sight, iron sight dewar, 50-meter any sight. He was second in the 50-yard any sight, in the 100-yard any sight and any sight aggregate.

Benson received a custom-built rifle barrel.

The matches were held in poor weather with rain, snow and wind hampering the shooters.

Oaks Split Doubleheader With Padres

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7 (AP)—The Oakland Oaks, surely as 6 o'clock in the morning, prepared Monday to show the brash, young San Francisco Seals the difference between the "men" and the "boys" in the Pacific Coast league.

The Oaks were ill-tempered over an unsuccessful series against San Diego and determined to punish the Seals for replacing them in the loop's runner-up spot.

Oakland had to go an extra inning in the second game Sunday to gain a 2-1 decision over San Deigo after the Padres took the opener 11-4. It gave San Siego the series 5-3.

League-leading Hollywood also was near coming a cropper. The Stars lost to Sacramento 12-6 in the first game and needed a two-out, three-run homer in the bottom of the seventh to take that one 3-2.

The Seals, making like carbon-copies of the Stars, had their 10-game win string cut by the Portland Beavers 8-4 in the opener and then came from behind to win 10-6 in the nightcap.

Los Angeles and Seattle both lost to the weatherman.

Qualifying Round Begins For U.S. Open

By United Press

Qualifying rounds for the U. S. Open golf championship will be held Monday at 32 sites with 1,904 players bidding for 129 berths.

The 129 survivors will join 33 players who are exempt from qualifying, including defending champion Ben Hogan, in a 162-man field for the championship proper at the Baltusrol golf club, Springfield, N. J., June 17-19.

The total entry list of 1,937 is the largest in the history of the Open.

The number of qualifiers' places in each section was determined by the size and quality of the field. The largest single allotment of places is at Cincinnati, O., where 88 players compete for 15 berths.

Cincinnati was given an unusually large allotment because many top professionals transferred to that section since they were playing there in the Western Open during the week-end.

Besides Hogan, all other former Open champions, the best 20 scores and ties from the 1953 championship, 1953 PGA champion Walt Burkemo, and Gene Littler, 1953 amateur champion who now is a professional, do not need to qualify for the play at Baltusrol.

CONN PICKS CHARLES

PITTSBURGH, June 7 (AP)—Ex-heavyweight contender Billy Conn, a one-time boxing stylist himself, said Monday that Ezzard Charles' superior boxing skill would help him wrest the heavyweight title from champion Rocky Marciano at Yankee stadium June 17.

Chisox Stay Clo To Indians Wit 2 Wins Over Na

By The Associated Press

Orestes Minnie Minoso, cited by Ted Williams as tially the greatest player in the American leag thrust himself boldly into the running for the circu valuable player award.

Largely because of this fleet-footed Cuban, the White Sox have been able to keep within striking of the league leading Cleveland Indians.

As the season comes to the one-third mark, the 30-year-old outfielder leads the circuit in runs batted in, runs scored and triples. He's tied for the lead in stolen bases and among the top five in hits, home runs, doubles and batting.

Minoso was Chicago's big gun again Sunday as the White Sox swept a doubleheader from Washington 5-3 and 6-0 to stay within eight percentage points of first place. He smashed his 10th home run with a man on base to provide the winning margin in the opener. He collected three singles, drove in his 50th and 51st runs, scored his 46th run and stole his seventh base in the nightcap. He is hitting .333.

Cleveland protected its first place margin by sweeping a doubleheader from the Athletics in Philadelphia 2-1 and 7-5 while Brooklyn boosted its National league lead to two games, thrashing the Chicago Cubs 6-4 for its ninth straight.

The Baltimore Orioles held New York to a split in their twin bill to drop the third place Yankees 3½ games behind the pace. Veteran Joe Coleman beat the Yankees 7-4 for his sixth victory but the Yankees won the second game 5-2 as Allie Reynolds outpitched Don Larsen.

Boston's Red Sox went on a home run binge to defeat Detroit 7-4. Homers by Ted Lepcio, Milt Bolling, Harry Agganis and Jackie Jensen accounted for all Boston's runs.

Philadelphia's Phillies outslugged the St. Louis Cardinals 11-8 to tie Milwaukee for third place in the National and advance within a game of the runnerup New York Giants. Bobby Morgan's grand-slam homer highlighted the Phils' six-run first inning.

The Giants and Cincinnati Redlegs exchanged 3-2 decisions. The Giants won the first game on Monte Irvin's 10th homer of the season in the eighth. The Reds took the nightcap in the ninth when Bob Borkowski singled to score Chuck Harmon from second.

Pittsburgh survived a grand slam homer by Milwaukee's Eddie Mathews and won the second game 6-4 after Jim Wilson had pitched the Braves to a 4-0 opening game victory. The veteran right-hander permitted only four hits.

A trio of triples paved the way for Cleveland's pair of victories over Philadelphia. Two of them came in the second inning of the first game and helped Bob Feller record the 251st victory of his career. They were hit by Dave Philley and George Strickland. Each scored on a sacrifice fly. The third triple was hit by rookie catcher Hal Naragon with the bases full in the fourth inning to provide the margin of victory in the second game.

Cities Run to Net Seaway's Trade Prizes

CHICAGO, June 7 (AP)—Cities rimming the great lakes are in a race now for the world trade bonanza expected when the St. Lawrence seaway is completed.

In lead position is Milwaukee.

For years the city of beer, baseball and butter has been preparing for a role as a major inland port for ocean-going vessels. Every step taken to improve its lakeside facilities was based on the assumption that the seaway some day would become reality.

Other cities will be hard pressed to build the dock space, warehouses and dockside railroad platforms that Milwaukee already is operating for the smaller vessels now plying the lakes.

But other towns are girding for an all-out effort to get their share of the new trade. Comparatively small towns like Conneaut, O., and Sheboygan, Kenosha and Marinette, Wis., as well as cities like Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland and Toledo are competing.

Detroit's existing facilities are believed adequate to handle bigger ships at least for the first year of seaway operation. City terminal operators have announced plans for enlarging their facilities.

Toledo is the only Ohio city with a port authority and, in that respect, is ahead of Cleveland. Many Ohio cities are well equipped to handle current lake traffic but all will need considerable expansion.

Ashtabula, O., expected its population to jump by about 10,000 within the next decade or so. Utilities are boosting power capacity and plans are being made for new schools and roads.

At Indianapolis U. S. Customs Collector Harry D. Youse said he would seek establishment of an international port on Lake Michigan in northern Indiana. He said a support at Michigan City or Indiana Harbor would simplify the customs set-up.

The Duluth, Minn., and Superior, Wis., areas also look forward to establishment of new steel mills, refineries and grain industry subsidiaries.

Butterfly Spray Program Begins

IDAHO CITY, June 7 (AP)—Planes began taking off from a newly constructed airstrip at Warm Springs today to spray Boise National forest with pine butterfly-killing DDT.

Operations will begin from Idaho City next Monday to cover the southern part of the infested area.

Planes will fly from 4 to 10 a. m. daily. Pilots hope to spray 169,000 acres of state, private and federally owned timber in three weeks. Half a billion dollars worth of ponderosa pine is threatened with ravages of the pine butterfly.

It's a cooperative project of local timber industries, state forestry department, Keep Idaho Green committee, Southern Idaho Timber Protective association and the U. S. forest service. The infestation is one of the worst on record.

Boise Bank Plans 6-Story Structure

BOISE, June 7 (AP)—First Security Bank of Idaho is starting construction this week on a 1½ million-dollar six-story building at its present location.

President J. L. Driscoll says the structure will take 18 months to build, but there will be no interruption of banking service.

The building will take in an adjoining area which was the site of a Montgomery Ward store before it burned. When construction on that site is completed, banking facilities will be moved in while the old building is torn down.

Deal in Uranium Mining Reported

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 7 (AP)—Two Oklahoma City contractors and a Utah associate have announced a $650,000 plunge into uranium mining near Moab, Utah.

Mark Holloway, paving contractor, and J. S. Corley, a builder, said they expect to begin mining the A-bomb raw material within two months.

Holloway said they purchased 47 claims comprising a three-mile strip 1,500 feet wide in the middle of "proven property." Their partner is Fred Frazier, Moab.

LEAVE FOR TRIP

RICHFIELD, June 7—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Peterson left Monday to spend a week in New York City and to attend a grocer's convention in Washington, D. C., this month. Fred Peterson, Boise, will assist with management of Peterson's food market during their absence.

Concern Over Split by Atom Group Voiced

WASHINGTON, June 7 (U.P.) — Members of the congressional atomic energy committee expressed serious concern today about the sharp 3-to-2 split in the atomic energy commission on the issue of greater powers for Chairman Lewis L. Strauss.

Testimony before the committee last week brought the split into the open and confirmed rumors long prevalent here of a bitter backstage fight in the atomic governing board.

In dispute is a bill introduced by Rep. W. Sterling Cole, R., N. Y., and Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R., Ia., to designate Strauss as "principal officer" of the AEC.

Bill Supported

Strauss and Commissioner Joseph Campbell, the two Eisenhower appointees to the AEC, support the bill as a necessary strengthening of the chairman's administrative authority.

But Commissioners Henry D. Smyth, Thomas E. Murray and Eugene M. Zuckert told the congressional committee that Strauss already has plenty of power, perhaps too much. They said the AEC should go on operating as it has since it was founded eight years ago—with all five commissioners having equal authority and making all decisions on the basis of their "pooled wisdom."

Action Urged

Rep. Chet Holifield, D., Calif., said the rift in the AEC is obviously serious and must be resolved before the atomic agency can do its work effectively. He urged Cole to drop the "principal officer" legislation.

Cole said he had no idea the bill would stir up such a hornets' nest. He said, however, that he feared dropping it now would be construed as a "reflection" on Strauss.

President to Get College's Degree

WASHINGTON, June 7 (U.P.)—President Eisenhower, accompanied by a Democratic senator and his would-be Republican opponent, leaves today for a brief "non-political" trip to Delaware and Maryland.

The President was scheduled to fly from the capital to Dover, Del., and then motor to Chestertown, Md., where he will receive an honorary doctor of laws degree at Washington college.

Dr. Daniel Z. Gibson, president of the college, and Maryland Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin were the scheduled commencement speakers. President Eisenhower planned only a brief response to the citation by Dean Joseph Doyle.

2 Fliers Killed

SEOUL, Korea, June 7 (U.P.)—Two American crewmen were killed when their H-19 army helicopter developed engine trouble and crashed into a building five miles east of here. The pilot and co-pilot were seriously injured.

The deaths brought to 12 the toll of killed and missing in air accidents in Korea and Japan in the past four days.

Meeting Ends

SPOKANE, June 7 (AP)—A banquet and installation of officers wound up the week-end meeting of district 5, Indoor Sports club. Lee Stone, Wenatchee, Wash., was installed as president.

Jack Riegle, Boise, was put in office as third vice president.

Roosevelt Picked To Win Elections

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7 (U.P.)—James Roosevelt was expected today to win a Democratic congressional nomination in tomorrow's primary, despite his widely-publicized marital troubles.

Roosevelt's marital battles, in which his wife charged he was unfaithful with a number of women, were almost as much of a campaign issue as his political philosophy.

But the former President's elder son was the heavy favorite to win the nomination, even though the Democratic national committee denied him any support.

Paper Claims 'Ike' Favored Entry in War

WASHINGTON, June 7 (U.P.)—The Washington Post and Times Herald said today President Eisenhower was prepared to ask congress April 26 to permit U. S. air intervention in Indochina but the plan fell through because the British would not agree.

The White House and state department declined to comment on the report.

"President Eisenhower was prepared to go to congress Monday, April 26, to ask for passage of a joint resolution to permit American intervention," the newspaper said in a dispatch by its chief diplomatic correspondent, Chalmers Roberts.

Roberts said the British cabinet turned the proposed "united action" air strike down April 26 after an extraordinary Sunday session at which the British joint chiefs of staff agreed it would not save Dien Bien Phu. British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden was quoted as personally opposing the move on grounds it would require ground troops within 48 hours after an air strike.

Cleveland Is Site For Church Meet

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7 (U.P.)—The Seventh-day Adventist church has chosen Cleveland as the site for its 1958 general conference.

Elder Reuben R. Figuhr, Adventist world president, said church leaders chose Cleveland for the benefit of the church's members in the eastern United States.

The church had held seven of its nine quadrennial world sessions in San Francisco since 1918.

The church wound up its 47th general conference Saturday. More than 20,000 Adventists and their families attended from all parts of the world.
